fuzzy multiobjective reliability optimization problem of ... - journalofindustrialmathematics 3 3.1. formulation of system reliability model. let us consider that the reliability problem of a system consists of \square sensor system optimization to meet reliability targets - systems' reliability are presented: one way is to use optimization methods of the existing systems using statistic optimization techniques [1], another way is to additionally measure known, correlated disturbing influences and compensate those [2] [3], and also a combination of both approaches is possible. where the effort is justified by the application, redundancy can be a way to improve ... application of reliability centred maintenance to optimize ... - reliability centred maintenance is a maintenance optimization tool which has a role in providing an effective response to such demands on the industry, by enhancing the effectiveness of operations and maintenance programmes. evaluation and optimization of manufacturing systems ... - chapter 15 evaluation and optimization of manufacturing systems reliability andrew kusiak and armen zakarian department of industrial engineering, research article fuzzy multiobjective reliability ... - the reliability design of the engineering systems, and hence various researchers [] used different methods to solve reliability optimization problem in fuzzy environment. system reliability optimization: a fuzzy genetic algorithm ... - failure is inevitable in industrial systems so much that system reliability optimization has become a very important subject matter in industry. therefore, the development of effective methods for improving the overall reliability analysis and optimization of systems ... - reliability analysis and optimization of systems containing multi-functional entities by yiwen xu a dissertation submitted to the faculty of the department of systems and industrial engineering system optimization through co-operation - abb group - this paper focuses on three themes: reliability and energy efficiency boost of pumping systems with the systems approach, consortium-based development work that this requires and practical application of the obtained knowledge during energy appraisals for existing systems. so far reliability studies have mainly been carried out for fixed-speed pumping systems. for variable-speed-driven (vsd) ...
